

A Level Psychology Summer work

The following tasks are designed to help reinforce your Year 12 knowledge so that you are prepared for your first Psychology mock exam in November.

Part One:

You will be assessed on Research Methods throughout all three exams next summer, therefore it is essential that you consolidate your knowledge and keep it fresh in your mind. Therefore, your first task is to complete ALL questions in the Tutor2U booklet for the topics you have covered with Mr Dakin/Mrs Hopkins. This does not include the following topics: Report writing/ Economic implications; Features of a science; Inferential Statistics; Methods in Context: 12-mark questions; and Maths skills.

Part Two:

Your second task is to complete your revision materials for Paper 1. This includes materials on Social Influence, Attachment, Memory, Psychopathology and Biopsychology. Many of you have been creating these during the year, so please check they have good A01 (Theory, theorist, key words) and A03 (Detailed evaluation points with counterarguments where possible) throughout.

Invest in yourself by giving this work your best shot. Focus on the big picture and where passing this exam could take you and use your free time well.

Please bring your completed work to your first Psychology lesson of the new term.
